Rachel Nenner—Bud Flowers

Blending the talents of dynamic floral designers, bud creates contemporary arrangements rich in beauty and simplicity.

Bud is Rachel Nenner who set up the company in March 1999. Since then she has taken the business from strength to strength and has an artistic team of florists who work with her.

Their designs are constantly evolving to be able to provide original and contemporary arrangements for their wide range of clients.

Bud caters to a diverse range of religious and cultural communities and understands the unique differences inherent in each wedding celebration.

We encourage an open creative dialogue with the client, ensuring that all personal desires are fully realised without compromise.

They work from a design studio based in Kensal Rise, North West London.
